Case of Chapman vs. Pendleton to be Concluded Today in Supreme Court—Neglectful Husband Penalized—Winton-Barber Marriage.

The case of Courtland P. Chapman, against James M. Pendleton, as treasurer of the town of Westery, is now in the floodlight of the supreme court of the state of Rhode Island, upon the defendant's petition for a new trial, alleging as reasons that the ruling of the judge of the superior court and the verdict of the jury was contrary to the evidence and that the damage claim allowed was excessive.

This case is an outcome of the rebuilding of the highway to Watch Hill in 1907, in connection with which much of Mr. Chapman's land was used and most of which was given to the town. At the time Mr. Chapman claimed that more land was taken than was necessary and that the agreement of the town to place the walls back and in as good condition as when found was not complied with. Being unable to reach an amicable agreement, the case was taken to court. Mr. Chapman claiming damages of $300 for land taken and $600 for damages in connection with the removal of the walls along the highway boundary of some of his property. The case was tried before Judge Stearns and a jury in Westery in December, 1909, and a verdict of $900 was rendered for land and $600 for wall damages.

of $600 and that amount has been paid, but the council voted against the payment of the $600 claim and resolved to take the matter to the supreme court. The case was commenced late on Friday and partially heard and will be concluded today (Monday). When the case was in the superior court, Everett E. Kingsley was town solicitor and the council decided to continue him as counsel in the case in connection with Attorney Walter Barney of Providence. Judge John W. Sweeney is counsel for Mr. Chapman.

As stated in Saturday's Bulletin, Rev. George D. Gould, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, Westery, for more than three years, from Aug. 1, 1898, to Aug. 30, 1899, who went from here to his present pastorate of the Baptist church in Rockville, Conn., has accepted a call to the First Baptist church in St. Albans, Vt. He will begin his new pastorate the first Sunday in January. Before coming to Westery he was pastor at Huntington, Mass.

Mr. Gould was born in New Hudson, Allegheny county, N. Y. He early attended Friendship academy, Friendship, N. Y., and then entered Alfred University, the Seventh-day Baptist institution at Alfred, N. Y., graduating in the class of 1885. He was graduated three years later from the Rochester Theological seminary and soon thereafter was ordained to the Baptist ministry.

Prospects are encouraging for the formation of a social center in Westery. One of the features is demonstrated by what has been effected in Rochester. A month after the opening of the social center in that city a merchant whose place of business was near one of the centers stopped the director in the street to say:

"The social center has accomplished what it had been regarded as impossible. I have been here nine years and during that time there has always been a gang hanging around the corners which has been a continued nuisance. This winter the gang has disappeared."

"They ain't a gang any more," answered the director; "they are a debutante."

On a recent evening in Westery, with all the saloons open and three public entertainments in progress, there were 117 men standing idle in Dixon square and vicinity.

Local Laconics.

Westerly colleagues are arriving home for the holiday season.

Dr. John Champlin of Westery has been re-elected a consulting physician and surgeon of the Rhode Island hospital.

Andrew Lincoln Winton of Chicago and Miss Kate Grace Barber of Washington, D. C., were married Saturday afternoon in Carolina by Rev. Hibbert Lockhart.

George Bates, adjudged guilty of the charge of non-support of his wife and four children, was sentenced to six months in the state workhouse and to pay costs of $1.10.

The contract has been awarded for the curbing of Pierce street that carries with it considerable filling and grading. The property owners furnish the curbing; the setting is at the expense of the town.

Andrew Brock, who has been in police custody for several days, has been committed to the department for the insane at the state hospital. A brother from Philadelphia was here to take the demented man to that city, but his condition was such that the brother made objection to his treatment at Cranston.

Rev. Walter E. Lanphear, pastor of the Congregational church in Mansfield Center, Conn., called to the pastorate of the Plymouth Congregational church in Hartford, is a descendant of Rev. John Lothrop, who was his first maternal ancestor in this country. The earliest known ancestor of Rev. Mr. Lanphear was in Westery in 1609.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church held a successful Christmas sale and social in Sprague hall last Wednesday evening. The booths were beautifully decorated. Those in charge were: (Fancy articles, Mrs. Buckley and Mrs. Stevens; aprons, Mrs. Stubbs, Mrs. Halting, Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Wood; home made candy, Mrs. Annie Dobbrow and Mrs. Dr. Barr; cake and sandwiches, Mrs. Parker and Mrs. George Green.

One of the attractive features of the evening was the mystery table, in charge of Mrs. W. E. Peck and Mrs. George Drescher. The table was loaded with various articles which were won purchased by anxious buyers, each wondering what he or she would get. People came and went during the evening and made the sale a splendid financial success. The Ladies' Aid society won warm commendation for their good work in the church.

Officers of St. Jean Society.

At the annual meeting of St. Jean minstrel society, held in their hall on Thursday evening, the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Chaplain, Rev. U. O. Bellerose; president, Louis J. Fontaine; vice president, Zuel Gaucher; recording secretary, Arthur P. Cote; assistant secretary, Noel Caron, Jr.; corresponding secretary, Eugene A. Garsneau; treasurer, Moses Genard; first marshal, George Caron; second marshal, Edward Beaudoin; sick committee, Louis Trudeau, chairman, Alfred Girard, Noel Caron, Sr., Louis St. Onge, Louis Peltier; additors, Alphonse Pournier, Edward Beliveau, Orville LaRoche.

After the election a smoker was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by Alex Dupont, Jr. and Landre Omlint, etc. who had charge of the affair. Vocal solos were finely rendered by Eugene and Garsneau, Arthur Roy, Louis and Edward Beaudoin. Choruses by the society choir, under the direction of Louis Trudeau, pianist of the evening, won loud applause.

Vital statistics for November show three births, one marriage and one death.

The winners of the men's prizes at the recent whist were Alfred Pelouquin and Napoleon Belanger.

Test of Milk.

In the latest test of milk sold through the village, Thomas Newman had the highest percentage from his 35 cows. Eight different persons sell milk through here.

Public School Entertainment.
